McGILL BASKETBALL TEAM WINS FIRST TITLE GAME

M.A.A.A. Is Defeated in First Meeting for City League
Title—Red and White Team on the Long End of 38-30
Score—Amaron-Crain-Manson Defence Saves Day for College Team.

Last night in the Montreal High School, the McGill basketball team defeated the M.A.A.A. Reds in a close, hard fought game by a score of 38 to 30. The Winged Wheelers, with machine-like accuracy, outwitted the Red and White players, and by cool, deliberate playing, were able to hold their own for the majority of the game. McGill, on the other hand, played at top speed, and the clashing of the two types of play made an interesting game to watch. The college team had the edge on the score for the most part of the game and missed almost twice as many tries for baskets as the Peel Street team. They put up a wonderful game and after the past two weeks in which they have played fast moving teams who risk long shots rather than slow passes, the team was for a time unable to revert to the type of play they met.

The Red and White team put up a real scrap. The organized rooters and the college men at large were most conspicuous by their absence, but the High School and the majority of the fans were strong for the McGill team, and even got them into difficulties at times through their unrestrained rooting. From the start of the game to the final whistle, the University squad had to watch the clever work of the M. A. A. forward line. When the defence of the opposition got the ball they held it long enough for the Blue and Red forward line to get into shooting position, and an accurate pass gave them the chance to tally. The Peel Street team were in perfect physical shape, and stood up against the fast moving intercollegiate championship team for the whole forty minutes without showing any signs of the fast pace that was set. They played the Red and White squad at their own game on one or two tries, and worked a nice short passing combination.

Coch Van Wagner's team was not at its best. Time and again the men sent the ball wide of their mark, and it was only the strong defence that saved the game. Crain was at his usual top form. Three times he came up the floor and scored, and on numerous other occasions this fleet-footed player was mixed into the combination work that resulted in a basket. Amaron was at all times in good form and was as a side partner of Crain's in every way his equal. These two players are with-

BIG DOINGS LAST NIGHT WITH ACTORS

Much Accomplished, Though
New Director Absent

MR. TREMAYNE

Good Singing Will Be Big Feature in Performance

For several hours last night the Union was the scene of very interesting preparations for the Theatre Night, when the actors from Medicine, R.V.C. M.S.P.E. and Arts practised their skits under the supervision of Mlle. Tourne, Dr. MacMillan, Prof. Sandwell, Dr. Villard, A. J. Skelly and R. L. Hamilton. Although many improvements are to be desired, still the rehearsal showed that all the actors have put considerable effort into the hard work of preparing their parts. Unfortunately, Mr. W. A. Tremayne, the new director, was unable to be present, and his absence was keenly felt by all the companies; it is assured, however, that he will be on hand for the second general rehearsal, which will be held within the next few days. Mr. Tremayne is well known as the director of many amateur plays in this city, and with his assistance considerably better progress should be made. Exactly two weeks from tonight the big show will take place, and with the realization of the shortness of the time an acceleration in all lines of activity should be observed.

Medicine was the first to practice last night, and staged an amusing act containing a medley of characters. It has been rumoured and not denied that the recent discoveries in Egypt have considerably affected the plan of this act, but the skit is by no means old-fashioned. A good chorus is introduced, which gives some songs in lively fashion. Too much cannot be said concerning the actual plot, as this would tend to take away the novelty from a praiseworthy performance.

A large cast formed up for the R. V. C. rehearsal, which came second in last night's order of appearance. There are over forty co-eds in the skit, the playing of which was superintended by Miss Foster, Miss Grigg and Miss Sharples. The plot is a futuristic one which anticipates great changes in the education of women. Some clever dancing was seen, and the whole act, although lacking the finishing touches required for actual exhibition, showed a good foundation for better things. Of course it is only fair to state that in this act, as in all the others, the costumes will make a world of difference in the impressions left on the audience.

The Physical Eds. have the only really mixed company of the show, consisting of a total of about twenty actors, half being from the M.S.P.E. and the rest being carefully selected men who can both sing and dance. Under the able direction of Miss Gil-mour, the practice went through in lively fashion, and had it not been for the regrettable absence of two of the male members of the company, a practically perfect evening's work could have been boasted. This troupe has had the most practise of any, and certainly showed it last evening; their act is undoubtedly a very snappy one, and by the time the big night arrives should be one of the headliners.

E. W. Willard was in charge of the Arts rehearsal, besides playing the music for it. This act is still in the first stages, although considerable improvement was noted during the hour that was devoted to the practice. The chorus is quite good, and there should be no trouble in hearing their selections.

BOXERS AND WRESTLERS IN EXHIBITIONS

Soldiers at Ste. Anne's See
B.W. & F. in Action

ONE MIXED BOUT

Wrestler Gains Three Falls
Within Two Minutes

Last evening before a crowd of more than three hundred boxing and wrestling fans at Ste. Anne's Military Hospital the B.W. & F. put on a sparkling exhibition of the art of fist-cuffs and holds. Although a majority of the bouts were at catch weights there was no lagging and plenty of action characterized all the bouts, especially the boxing. In the wrestling contests no falls were scored but every hold known in the art was demonstrated during the evening. In his boxing bout Brewer was in danger of being disqualified for kicking Marshall when his back was turned.

One of the most interesting features of the evening was a mixed bout between Sharpe, a boxer, and McDonald, a wrestler. The rules used were the same as those used at the last meet held in the Union, that is, the boxer could only hit when on his feet and the wrestler not being allowed to hit at all. The wrestler quickly demonstrated his superiority by scoring three falls within two minutes. Coach Smith acted as referee and Dr. Lamb was timekeeper. The bouts were as follows:

Boxing

Schleifer vs. Sharpe.
Caron vs. Stine.
Marshall vs. Brewer.
Caron vs. O'Brien.
Brewer vs. O'Brien.

Wrestling

McEvoy vs. MacDonald.
Cotnam vs. McNaughton.
McNaughton vs. Howes.
Freedman vs. Rumpel.

Mixed

Sharpe (boxer) vs. McDonald (wrestler).

Next Tuesday the active members of the B.W. & F. are going to hold a smoker and all members are requested to see the executive for further details. There will be an announcement in the "Daily" later regarding it.

ECCENTRIC CREATURES EXHIBITED

Mud Puppies Suspected of Cannibalistic Tendencies

ALSO "MARMADUKE"

Specimens in Biological Bldg
Have Queer Habits

Among the many interesting denizens of the Biological Building are the cannibalistic "Mud Puppies," a brace of voracious "Bull Fins," and last but not least, "Marmaduke," the poisonous tarantula.

"Marmaduke" put the fear of death into a Greek grocer some two months ago when he hopped out of a crate of bananas and proceeded to tear around the store. Fortunately, he did no harm, was captured, and has lived in a glass case in the Biological Building ever since, feeding on choice bits of liver and an occasional fly.

"Marmaduke" is a repulsive looking creature with a small round hairy body and ten legs or creepers, that make his total diameter about three inches. The two curved fangs by which he is able to bite and poison people are small and difficult to see without the aid of a microscope. "Marmaduke" is what is known as a "Trap Door" tarantula. This species of tarantula build their nests on the top of a hill, but the peculiar fact about it is that they cover the exit with a little hinged door that closes after them when they go out. When alarmed, they scuttle inside, grasp two small hooks on the inside of this door, and it is really quite difficult to open it. They have a trick of suddenly relinquishing their grasp on the door, and when the pursuer looks into the nest no tarantula is to be seen. What they really do is to drop into a little niche near the door, and time and again, they "get away with it."

The "Mud Puppies" are kept in a small aquarium, and whether they are cannibals or not, depends on the deductive powers of the reader.

A few days ago there were five of the little lizard-like fellows, but yesterday, careful search revealed only four, and the largest one of these was swollen and corpulent, and refused to even look at a most delicious bit of liver that was dangled before his very nose. The attendant declared he could feel the shape of a little "Mud Puppy" in the stomach of the big one, and he certainly looked as though he had gorged himself well but not wisely.

A peculiar feature of these "Mud Puppies" (the tops of whose heads look astonishingly like those of Boston Bull pups, when seen from above), is their external gills. These consist of three little feelers placed on either side of their heads, the ends of which are covered with a feathery substance giving them the appearance of ostrich feathers. When the "Puppies" breathe, these "feathers" become suffused with blood, turn beet red and are rather pretty, as they wave gently back and forth through the water.

The only story remaining to be told is that of the "Bull Fin," who in a most ungentlemanly manner leaped from the water, seized the tip of a lady's finger in his strong jaws, and refused to let go until he was thrown wriggling onto the floor. When returned to his little pond, he was quite sulky and refused to eat a tempting piece of liver, no matter in how worm-like a way it was offered to him. The truth of the matter is that the lady in question pointed her finger at the "Bull Fin" in order to draw attention to his eyes, which he is able to turn in his head at will. The "Bull Fin" cocked an eye upward and seeing the tip of something gleaming white in the light, made a leap for it, and doubtless was as much surprised at his own success as were the others present.

The Biological "menagerie" is an interesting one, and rumour has it that there is a "Guinea Pig Farm" somewhere in its precincts. But of this, more anon.

WICKSTEED EVENTS ON MONDAY NEXT

Annual Competition Held in High School Gymnasium

The annual Wicksteed Athletic and Gymnastic championships will be decided in the Montreal High gymnasium on March the twelfth at 5.30 p.m.

For those who are a bit lazy in their ideas about the annual Wicksteed Competition, a few words of explanation will not be amiss. It is a gymnasium contest which has been held annually for a great number of years. Its past has been very successful and it is a regrettable affair that the number of competitors in recent years has not been large. The competition is open to McGill students and consists of apparatus work on four different pieces of apparatus, on athletic dance and drill, fence vault, potato race and hop, step and jump or 50 yard swim. For the winner of the freshman year there is Dr. Harvey's cup; for the second and third year men the Wicksteed bronze medal, and for senior men the Wicksteed silver medal.

The team to meet Varsity will consist of upwards of five men, and the work will be wholly on apparatus—high bar, parallel bars, horse and mats. There will be four movements on each piece, two set and two voluntary. The teachings of Mr. Finley, the coach, have been most excellent and the club is lucky to have such a valuable man. The entries to date are as follows:—
S. C. McKyes, Sci. '26.
A. H. Bourne, Sci. '25.
P. R. Rolleston, Sci. '25.
F. Consiglio, Sci. '24.
J. McLeitchie, Arts '24.
D. V. McLean, Arts '23.
E. C. Amaron, Arts '23.
J. R. Delahay, Med. '25.
Rolleston, Macdonald College.

Men in the first year who have been turning out for practice with the Gymnastic Club are invited to enter this contest.

Judges:—Dr. F. W. Harvey, Mr. C. B. Powter, Dr. A. S. Lamb.

EVENTS.

1—Drill (set).
2—Dance (set).
3—High Bar, Set Exercises and Voluntary Exercises.
4—Parallel Bars, Set Exercises and Voluntary Exercises.
5—Horse, Set Exercises and Voluntary Exercises.
6—Mats, Set Exercises and Voluntary Exercises.
7—Fence Vault.
8—Standing Hop, Step and Jump.
9—220 Yard Potato Race.

COMMENCE BANQUET FEATURE AFFAIR

Noted Men Will Be Guests of Honour Tonight

To-night at seven o'clock, the captains of industry of Montreal will gather in the ball room of the Mount Royal to be the guests of the School of Commerce at one of the most novel banquets that has ever been attempted by any faculty. The way things point at present it is going to be a big success for nearly every man in the School is behind it, and has paid his five dollars, a thing which cannot be neglected in matters such as dinners.

All the business men asked have spoken very favourably of the idea of the dinner, and there is no doubt that much good will come from it. The committee has worked hard and everything is in readiness. Sir Arthur Currie, Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, E. W. Beatty, and Lt.-Col. Herbert Molson all are going to speak, and that part of the evening will be more than worth the attendance at the affair. T. H. Winslow has been chosen as the student who is to reply to the toast to the School of Commerce, and is a person who is exceedingly well fitted for such a responsible duty. A. E. D. Tremaine, the President of the Commercial Society, will preside.

The actual nourishment to be provided is of the best. The King of Roumania's ex-chef has excelled himself in the culinary art, and Gaston, the head waiter, has his cohorts trained to perfection. They have been chosen from the very best of the waiters in the country, and are second to none. Music there will be plenty. The famous Iroquois orchestra under the leadership of the great Glenn Adney, formerly chief musicians to the King of Borneo, will be on deck for the great event to make certain that syncope will not be lacking.

Flowers have been ordered from the best floral experts, cigarettes of the best brand obtainable will be supplied, and there are rumours that the committee has hired Galli-Curci to sing a few solos during the process of the banquet.

All in all it is something that must not be missed by anyone for it is going to be an event worth remembering for a long time to come.

This will be the only opportunity of seeing the Intercollegiate Gym. team in action this year because of the contest being held in Toronto and spectators are invited.

OVERBURDENED

When a tenderfoot comes to the jumping-off place and leaves civilization behind, he is often outfitted with elaborate and patent arrangements for his trip. He is sure, in his own mind, that he is going to enjoy all the comforts of home and he scoffs at his companion or guide who throws scorn upon his pet articles, the miraculous off-spring of inventive minds. But with the first day, the tenderfoot begins to realize the folly of his ways and he comes back from his journey carrying only the bare essentials. His collapsible patent cooker was thrown away and lies rusting at the bottom of a stream. His telescopic sleeping apparatus rots in the northern woods and his pet accessories are to be found all along the trail, almost to the last lap, of the last day.

But we, as students, are probably not much wiser than our friend of the patent outfit, for we may be piling up a great many mental accessories which will prove useless when we leave this, the jumping-off place. Of course we should acquire a broad, general education but we should not chase after useless mental acquisitions and hobbies, which will overburden us in our future life. We are here making up our kits for a long journey and we will need all that is sound; that is good; that is well tried and tested and not found wanting. We should try to get the best but if we try to obtain too much, we are bound to lower our standard and drop to the level of mediocrity or worse.

Both Montaigne and William Hazlitt, two of the greatest essayists of all time, were apprehensive about men and women attempting to add too much to their mental load. Hazlitt, in an essay on "Genius and Common Sense", says: "Good nature and common sense are required from all people; but one proud distinction is enough for any one individual to possess or to aspire to. . . . More people in fact fail from a multiplicity of talents and pretensions than from an absolute poverty of resources."

We are still tenderfeet and should respect words such as these, coming as they do from a close observer and a keen analyst of human nature and human motives.

EDITORIAL NOTE.

It is gratifying to note that action has been taken to provide a means by which the nominees for the various offices to be contested on the fourteenth of the month will be able to address the student body whose support each of them will solicit. The Smoker, which will take place next Tuesday, demands the attendance of every undergraduate interested in the affairs of his Alma Mater, not only for the purpose of aiding in the selection of the most capable men to fill the various posts but also for the purpose of encouraging the staging of similar smokers on like occasions in the future.

CAFETERIA CHAIRS WERE CONSCRIPTED

Sustained Demand for Alma Mater Dance Tickets

To an outsider unacquainted with recent happenings and current proceedings about the campus, the lobby of the Union yesterday presented a rather unique appearance. From eleven o'clock in the morning till one o'clock in the afternoon students were congregating; more than that, they were coming to stay—as evidenced by the assortment of chairs which were conscripted from the cafeteria and on which they reposed in apparent content. However, most of the onlookers being university students, and being onlookers by virtue of previous purchase of a ticket to the Alma Mater Dance, the cause of the gathering was perfectly obvious. A prospective buyer of the pass to an evening's bliss on March the sixteenth could be easily distinguished from the man who had already succeeded in his quest; the doubtful, but dogged air of the one, contrasted with the nonchalant, confident bearing of the other left but small question as to their respective predicaments. Lucky indeed is the girl who receives a "bid" to the Alma Mater; but more fortunate still is the youth who, having procured his partner but being bereft of the necessary cardboard demanded as a necessity to his admission, succeeds, at this late hour, in obtaining the "open seat" wherewith to pass the Union porter.

AND YET ANOTHER ON THE SCOTCH.

Donald awakens to find his spouse of forty years dead by his side. He totters to the head of the stairs and calls to the maid, in a voice weak from the terrible shock: "Lizzie, you will be cookin' but one egg for breakfast this morning,"—Gateway.

ORCHESTRA HOLDS GOOD REHEARSAL

To Practice With Skits Next Week

The Orchestra for Theatre Night held a practice at Strathcona Hall last night. There was a good attendance, and quite a bit of work was accomplished. There was a shortage of brass instruments, but this deficiency will be made up at next Monday's rehearsal, as several men who have volunteered their services were unable to attend last night but will be out on Monday. It is expected that an orchestra of about thirty pieces will occupy the pit of the St. Denis Theatre on Theatre Night. The work on the whole is progressing very favourably. A lot of time was spent last night on the "Nocturne" from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream," with gratifying results. The orchestra will play other selections, but is awaiting the arrival of the music which is expected any day now. As it is to be expected with an orchestra composed of men who are not used to applying together, a few practices are necessary before the necessary co-ordination among the players is obtained and before they acquire the proper assurance, but with another rehearsal or so there will be nothing to worry about on this score.

The accompaniments for the various acts are well in hand, and will be ready for rehearsal with skits next week.

FIRE AWAY

"B-A-N-G!" went the rifles at the maneuvers. "Oooooo!" screamed the pretty girl—a nice decorous, surprised little scream. She stepped backwards into the arms of a young man. "Oh," she said, "I was frightened by the rifles—I beg your pardon." "Not at all," replied the young man, "Let's go over and watch the artillery."

NOTICES

R. V. C.

There will be a rehearsal for all those taking part in Theatre Night, this afternoon, at 5 o'clock in the R. V. C. gym.

LA SOCIETE FRANCAISE.

stein, Wadsworth, Higginbottom, Cantley, Hannon, Hunter, McLean, Bernstein, Herschorn, Kanisberg.

If these men desire to be included in the class group they must make appointments at Notman's by Monday, March 12th.

RUGBY CLUB.

Will all those men who intend turning out for football next fall leave their names and home addresses on the lists provided on the Notice Board in the Union.

RADIO ASSOCIATION.

Dr. H. T. Barnes D.Sc., F.R.S., Hon. Pres. of the Radio Association, will give an address on "Radio Physics" at 5 p.m. on Thursday in the Macdonald Physics Building. Dr. Barnes is a physicist of such reputation that all members should make a point of attending this meeting. The executive wish to extend a cordial invitation to those of the Professoriate who are concerned.

NOMINATIONS FOR S. C. A. BOARD.

For President—G. W. Mitchell.
 Directors—R. F. Ogilvy, A. S. Ross, D. Stewart, W. Hewitson, L. Tombs, F. S. Howes, E. G. Maxwell, W. McLeod, S. S. Milley, R. C. Harris, R. B. Michener.

STUDENT RELIEF AT GENEVA UNIVERSITY

Strangers passing through Geneva, Switzerland, on the 25th of January, would have been very much puzzled by the appearance of the streets of this "City of Nations." Bits of white sheeting hanging from many windows were waving in the wind, and down below teams of students from the University were merrily riding in motor cars or on horse-drawn trucks, while many were democratically drawing or pushing handcars of diverse dimensions. But no one could mistake them for pedlars, for they proudly wore the coloured caps of their fraternities, and blue bands on their sleeves bore the initials of the "European Student Relief Association," which in French is shortened in the three letters E. U. E. (Entr' aide universitaire europeenne.)

The newspapers had prepared the way by inserting appeals for the relief of the "New poor ragged schools of Central and Eastern Europe, and had requested every citizen wishing to contribute in clothes or money to place the sign at one of his windows. And what wonderful bundles were expecting the student's energetic ring at the door bells, and how lustily these bundles rolled down the staircases and were piled on the waiting vehicles! And what a mountain they formed in the University basement, and what work it entailed to open several thousand parcels, to sort them and pack them again for their various destinations.

It seemed as if, after clothing one thousand refugees a day during several months of the Great War, and suffering so acutely from trade and tourist depression, little Switzerland would have been the last to have even an old shirt to give to any poorer than itself. But Geneva and other Swiss cities have always been ready to treat every human being as a brother.—B. B.

MEDICAL STUDENTS WILL HEAR ADDRESS

At a meeting of the Pharmaceutical Society on Monday, March 12th at 8.15 p.m., what promises to be an interesting and instructive address will be given in the New Medical Building by Dr. Hatcher, the subject being "Pharmacy 2000 Years Ago."

This title gives promise of revealing many facts and instances which will be of a great benefit to all classes of students, but without doubt of much use to Medical and Dental men who are especially urged to attend. After the lecture, the regular meeting of Society will be held.

Father—"Well, son, how did your exams go?"

Son—"My physiology says that conversation during meals should be of a pleasant character. Let's talk about something else."—University News.

Room—"Hey there! Don't spit on the floor."
 Mate—"Smatter. 'Elder leak!'"

"Listen, Abe, you don't want to marry that girl, why everybody in town kisses her."
 "Vel, the town ain't so beeg."

The Straight Line

WHEN a railroad is constructed from one town to another engineers strive to make the line as straight as possible. Because a straight route is shortest, quickest and least costly.

Business furnishes a parallel case—the line between the man who makes something and the man who wants something.

Advertising provides a short cut between the manufacturer and you. Advertisements make it possible to tell you in a few minutes all you want to know about the services or articles you need.

A glance through this paper enables you to sift out the things that interest you, and in a moment you know just where and when to go for what you want.

Figure how many steps, how much needless walking and talking the advertisements save you and your neighbors. Then you will realize the great economy of advertising.

UNDERGRADS. HELD IMPORTANT MEETING

Science Men Discuss Inter- esting Business

The Science Undergrads. held an important meeting yesterday at 5 p.m. Although only a small attendance was in evidence, much interest was shown in the business on hand, and suggestions were made regarding notice of future meetings.

President Ambridge gave his report for the year, followed by that of the Treasurer, Mr. Roger. The reports were entirely satisfactory, and adopted as given.

Ambridge then introduced the incoming administration and handed the meeting over to W. Mitchell, incoming president. Nominations were accepted for Science Football representative and Reaper was elected. Ogilvy Leslie was elected manager of Science Football team.

A motion was made to grant $50 to be donated as prizes to be competed for by fourth year students by Summer Exams. This grant has been made annually for some years past and the motion was passed.

Some lively discussion took place regarding Science's part in Theatre Night. A group of men have already undertaken to prepare a skit on their own initiative. The consensus of opinion appeared to be that time was too short for a new attempt and money was granted that energetic group of men to carry out their plans.

A meeting was decided upon for next Friday night to hear candidates for Students' Elections and to hear the executive report on the subject of magazine binders for the Common Room. The meeting was adjourned.

The following men compose the incoming administration:
President—W. Mitchell.
Vice-Pres.—Ogilvy Leslie.
Sec.—C. H. McNaughton.
Treas.—S. C. Coge.
Reporter—A. H. McNab.
Assistant Sec.—E. Finley.

"MAC" DEFEATED BY M.S.P.E. BASKETBALL

The First and Second M.S.P.E. Basketball teams travelled out to St. Anne's on Tuesday night to meet Macdonald first and second teams. Both games were very closely contested but the M.S.P.E. teams were successful in both cases. The final score of the first team was 31-28; and that of the second team 21-13.

In the first period of the first team game, Macdonald gained the lead by accurate passing and shooting, and had eight points to their credit before the M.S.P.E. started to score. The "Mac" combination was very good, the centres taking every chance to pass to the forwards. Miss Norah Scudler played a splendid game and scored twelve baskets. The Physical Eds. worked hard and at half time were only one point behind, the score being 16-15.

The second period showed better combination for the M.S.P.E. and the centres played up well. Miss Pulkinghorn as guard blocked many Macdonald shots. The game became very exciting with alternate teams leading by one point. Miss Duff-Stuart scored some spectacular shots here and made the final score 31-28.

The game played by the second teams exhibited very good combination and open passing. M.S.P.E. had but a slight advantage at the end of the first period but in the second scored many baskets. Miss Flanagan scored the greatest number of baskets for M.S.P.E. and Miss Taylor for Macdonald.

The final score was 21-13.

The line-up was as follows:

M.S.P.E.	Macdonald

SMOKER AT UNION ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Next Tuesday night there will be a smoker at the Union at which the candidates in the coming elections will have an opportunity of making themselves known to the students in general. Definite particulars in regard to the affair will be known after the Students' Council meeting today. There is no doubt however that such an effort will meet with the general approval, and a large crowd should be out to hear the various speakers.

ORCHESTRAL CONCERT
AT R.V.C. TONIGHT

The McGill Conservatorium of Music is presenting one of its popular Orchestral Concerts this evening at 8.30 p.m. in the Convocation Hall of the R.V.C. and it promises to be of its usual high standard.

The varied and exceptionally fine programme will contain the following selections:

"New World"—Symphony, by Dvorak.
Pianoforte Concerto in E flat, Liszt.
Overture, "Euryanthe", Weber.
Song, "My Heart is Weary", Nadezda.

Songs:
"Oh Vision Everlasting", Nadezda.
"Eleanore", Colbridge Taylor.
Mr. Harold Gillingham.

CROCKER'S ORCHESTRA
FOR ALMA MATER

Yesterday the seventy-five additional tickets for the Alma Mater Dance were sold out in a few minutes and the one regret of the sponsors of the dance is the lack of space for there are still many unfortunates who have been unable to procure tickets.

The use of the lounge room partly solves the difficulty of the occasion by supplying additional dancing room. Here Crocker's excellent orchestra will hold forth while in the assembly above the University Dance Orchestra supplies more jazz.

The decoration committee, which has been very active for some time, has practically completed the preparations and the dancers will be treated to a display that surpasses anything seen in the ball room before. The refreshments are such that even a dyspeptic would smile with delight at the sight of them and punch will be served as a real "thirst-quenching" variety so that Bacchus and Ceres will be quite at home with Terpsichore.

COMMERCE DEFEATS MEN FROM SCIENCE

All-Star Teams Battle at Montreal High

In a game of indoor baseball, the issue of which was never in doubt after the first inning but which produced some good plays and snappy base running, Commerce All-Stars yesterday handed the best team Science could produce a 23-5 beating at Montreal High.

The score gives the best indication of the play, Science holding its own only in the opening inning. After this it was a runaway and was only a question of how many runs Commerce would pile up. Play was even in the first stages and it looked as though the game would be hard-fought and to the credit of Science it must be said that they fought well under a big handicap as they were playing with only six men. This was disheartening and although they struggled pluckily, Commerce took advantage of their opponents' lack of support and piled up a large number of hits.

The second frame ended 12-3 in favor of Commerce and after that the game lost interest from the standpoint of a spectator and was relieved only at times by flashes of good base running and a few lousy clouts.

The battery of the Commerce squad was especially strong. McCullough's fast ones puzzled the opposing batters while Campbell at the receiving end kept an eagle eye on the base runners and turned in an excellent record.

For Science, McNutt and Moran did some very good work. The game was handled in a competent manner by Referee White.

ring. Mendelsohn a moment later, although heavily checked, was able to get the ball into the basket. Saunders scored a point on a free try. Gronau broke the net on a long shot over the heads of the McGill defence. Saunders tallied on a shot under the ring. Mendelsohn slid a free try into the basket. Crain broke up the opposition's play and passed to Mendelsohn, who tallied.

Gronau, after a bit of dribbling, was able to score. Turpel, after battling up the floor, missed his shot when checked, but was able to knock the ball in with one hand. Manson fooled the troops, and shot a long low basket. A free try boosted up the Blue and Red score. Manson scored on a shot under the basket, although heavily checked. A fake pass and the big centre was able once again to register a score. Half-time and McGill led by a 19 to 14 point score.

Little went into the game in the second period. The Red and White team rallied a bit, but was unable to get a large lead. Ledain was in the game for Montreal. Manson opened the scoring when he was able to work through the opposition and score. Little twisted a one-handed shot into the basket. Crain broke through the defence and scored. Little again sent a long shot from centre floor into the net. The game was very fast and the crowd was keyed to a tense spirit of excitement as the M. A. A. A. team endeavored to regain the lead.

Mendelsohn scored while running full speed under the basket, curving a pretty shot into the ring. McGill took time out when the score stood 25-16 in their favor. Mendelsohn again scored on a free try.

The M.A.A.A. team were able to display their splendid passing game once more, and scored. After a volley of misses Mendelsohn scored. M. A. A. A. retaliated by scoring two pretty shots from centre floor. Philpott went onto the floor for McGill. Manson was able to get down under the basket and sent a shot into the net. The M.A.A.A. players again did their piece and sent a brace of free shots into the ring.

Mendelsohn and Crain raced down the floor and the defence man curved the ball into the net. On a foul by a McGill man they rowd cut loose with cheers, jeers and remarks, which, when over, gave M.A.A.A. five free tries, two of which were good.

Manson scored on a wicked shot from the side. Crain completed the McGill score when he tossed the ball into the ring on a long shot. The game went on, M.A.A.A. missing several tries, till the final whistle blew.

Mr. P. S. Manley was the referee. The line-up and summary is as follows:

McGill (38). M.A.A.A. (30)

ENTRIES CALLED FOR BY THE LIT

Competitors in Contest Must Inform Secretary

Many have already signified their intention of entering the Impromptu Speaking Contest to be held under the auspices of the Literary and Debating Society on Monday. This contest will decide the holder of the Talbot Memorial Cup, presented by Mrs. R. W. Reform in an endeavour to promote this type of oratory, and the cup will remain in the possession of the winner. The speeches will be delivered upon subjects which will appear in the "Daily" of the morning of the competition, so admitting of a general grasp of each, but being proof against extensive preparation, insofar as there will be eight or ten of such topics published while the entrants will speak upon only one to be selected at random. In order to effect final arrangements it is essential that all entries be in the hands of the secretary of the "Lit." by tomorrow evening at six o'clock, and to that end should be placed upon the notice board of the Union addressed to the above.

WHO
is the Freshette in residence who slept through her German exam. the other morning?

AND
is it true that she has been in time for her 9 o'clocks ever since?

WHO
is the Sophette who takes fright and becomes ill when exams. loom in sight?

AND
did she once recover too soon?

WHO
is the Arts Freshman, professional cartoonist, who lost himself on the mountains one night?

WHO
were his companions?

WHO
is the 2nd Year Science student calling St. Johns, Quebec, his home, that made the statement: "My popularity with the women is due to the fact that I part my hair in the middle?"

IS
it not so, that in spite of his apparent smoothness with the fair ones his composure was severely shaken by a young lady's father during a seance on a Westmount couch?

WHO
is the Chemical who nearly finished college Tuesday—at least that part of it called the Chemistry Building; and does he think that "leading his class" means out by the roof?

WHO
was the visitor at the R. V. C. last week who inquired whether canary birds were also kept there?

AND
did he think the elevator was their cage?

WHO
was the R. V. C. Senior who was initiated into the Drawing Room circle last Sunday evening?

AND
did she enjoy herself?

WHO
is the Arts Frosh who calls himself king because he has a "Queenie"?

AND
did she ever crown him?

WHY
was he called Ralph Connor?

WHY

do two students one an Arts Junior of the Valentino type, hailing from Edmonton, and often known as "the Count," the other of the blond, dimply type known for his skiing ability and claiming Ottawa for his home, taking first year Commerce, spend the morning on University street taking each other's pictures? and it appear really necessary that all their numerous lady friends should have a snap shot?

DOES

WILL
this not cause a certain amount of friction in the social world?

WHO
was the lucky finder of a Frat. Pin on Saturday?

AND
where does she keep it?

WHO
was the dark youth whose curly head became hopelessly caught in one of the long earrings of a Freshette, during the last Informal?

AND
where were the chaperons?

WHO
is the R.V.C. Senior who thinks that everyone should study First Aid, so as to be able to give "anecdotes" when needed?

WHO
is the thin, be-goggled Arts Freshman who hates to be told about "signing one's initials to newspaper articles."

WHO
is the R.V.C. Freshette who served as the inspiring element in his numerous frantic, but futile efforts to raise a moustache?

IS
he "sore" because his well-cared-for obstinate growth is too fair to be seen? If not, did he blush when an advertisement for a well known hair dye fell out of his pocket?

WHY

WHO
is the Commerce Partial whose beaming military countenance adorns the R. V. C. notice board in the Arts Building?

AND
does he hope to increase the membership of his Runt Club by this ingenious method of advertising?

MCGILL C.O.T.C. OFF FOR DAY AT STE ANNES

Under the command of Lt.-Col. R. R. Thompson, M.C., a party of about fifty members of the McGill Contingent C.O.T.C. leaves Windsor Station this Saturday for Ste. Anne de Bellevue, where the men will spend a tactical week-end.

Work similar to that which was undertaken at Shawbridge earlier in the session will be carried out by the men on this trip. Those equipped with skis will act as cavalry, while the remainder of the party will assume their regular jobs as infantry men. In this way, manoeuvres involving two branches of the service will be carried out.

The first of the series of manoeuvres will be undertaken on Saturday afternoon, while Sunday will see the performance of two more sets.

Nothing definite has been scheduled for Saturday night, but it is rumoured that the men will not spend a dull evening.

Those who desire to return early in the evening will be allowed to do so on the 5.35 train; others will return later.

CLASS MEETING HELD BY R.V.C. SENIORS

A class meeting of the R.V.C. Seniors was held yesterday at one o'clock. Miss Dorothy Teed and Miss Mary McPhail were chosen to represent the class in the coming debate with the Freshies.

All Seniors who have not yet had their photographs taken were asked to make their appointment with Notman within the next few days.

Several members of the class have not yet paid their "Daily" fee of $1.50. The class executive is very anxious to have all this money in as soon as possible. Will every girl who has not yet paid her fee kindly give it to Miss Roy today or Friday?

OLD SCOUTS CLUB MET LAST NIGHT

A short, but business-like meeting was held by the Old Scouts Club at Strathcona Hall yesterday evening. E. T. Harbut was in the chair, and after the reading of the minutes the main purpose of the meeting, the election of officers, was begun. There were several nominations for each office, and after the balloting was finished, G. T. La Fleur was elected president, while A. T. McIntyre, L. Kingston and H. Aikman were made vice-president, secretary and treasurer respectively. As this business had taken up a great deal of time it was decided to leave the election of the councillors of the club till the next meeting to be held shortly. The meeting closed with some little discussion on future activities.
